

Nixon reveals secret US peace plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon, apparently concerned over the impact of continued Vietnam conflict on his trip to China and on his chances for re-election, has unveiled details of secret negotiations with the Communists to end the Indochina War. He said the disclosures prove that Hanoi, not Washington, is blocking peace.

Nixon told the nation in a 24-minute radio and television address Tuesday night that in October he secretly submitted South Vietnam's controversial war prisoners over a six-month period—all within the framework of an arrangement designed to settle all political issues. But he mentioned no specific withdrawal date. He suggested there should be free elections, internationally supervised, with participation by the Viet Cong and said

October he secretly submitted president, Nguyen Van Thieu, was willing to resign one month before that balloting took place. The plan was submitted to Nixon's national security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, made 12 clandestine trips to Paris. But Nixon admitted the plan drew no response from the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, who instead took advantage of the secrecy shrouding the negotiations to condemn the United States in public for not making any new suggestions for ending the conflict. Although he did not say so, the President is known to be concerned about a heavy North Vietnamese buildup in Laos and Cambodia along the South Vietnamese border. The briefing up indicates the Communists are planning a main force assault into the Central Highlands at about the time Nixon is on his way to Peking, sources said.

High administration officials have expressed fear that such an offensive might undermine Nixon's visit to China—and Nixon Tuesday night appeared to be trying to head off that possibility by disclosing his dealings with Hanoi.

In addition, the speech was an obvious attempt to prove to the American electorate—some of whom, he said, "have become accustomed to thinking that whatever our government says must be false"—that only Communist resistance, not American reluctance, is responsible for the lengthy conflict. In particular it was a move to deprive Democratic presidential hopefuls of their claim that the administration had never offered to set a definite date for withdrawal and release of the prisoners.

Plan produces praise, queries

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon generally won bipartisan praise Tuesday for his Vietnam peace offers, but some critics of the war said the issue still was how long the United States will remain in Indochina to support South Vietnam.

Backers of Nixon's policies said he had now proven that everything possible has been done to end the war through negotiations.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., said Nixon had done "all that he could reasonably and honorably do," and Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kans., called for an end to the needless and divisive debate which has wracked this country for the past two years.

Church hopes plan will start talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Tuesday night he would have applauded President Nixon's speech on Vietnam had the offer been confined to withdrawal of remaining American forces in exchange for prisoners of war.

Church said, "however, he added another condition which would require the North to give up its fight and settle instead for elections in the South under a caretaker government."

He added, "This has been suggested and rejected before. Nevertheless, I hope Hanoi won't turn down the President's offer out of hand, but will regard it as a starting point for serious negotiations."

Wait, see stand taken by PW kin

Relatives of Americans missing in Vietnam, their hopes raised by other peace plans only to be dashed, took a wait-and-see attitude Tuesday on learning of President Nixon's newest proposals to end the war.

"Many times before we were told that the POW problem would be resolved in the near future," said Daniel O'Connor of Warren, Mich., "but it never

Gem court to decide health fee

Smith said should the court decide to hear the matter, the county will be notified and given an opportunity to present information. If it does not decide to hear it, he said, action will be filed in the district court and the decision there appealed by the losing side to the supreme court.

He said both he and Nelson, along with board members and commissioners, felt the writ of mandamus would be a much more expedient method of obtaining a ruling.

This year Twin Falls County increased its health budget from $41,118 to $52,000 but was asked for $69,000 as its share of the district budget. Twin Falls is one of seven participating counties and the health board set county assessments on a basis of $1.66 per capita. Since Twin Falls has the majority of the population, it has the majority of the budget.

County Commission Chairman William L. Chancey, who also serves as chairman of the district health board, said his first obligation is to the taxpayers of Twin Falls County who elected him.

Under the proposed program, he said, Twin Falls County would be paying twice what it paid last year for no more services. He said he feels taxpayers would strongly object to such a system.

Dr. Wayne Carte, administrator for the health district, said the action is important to this district as well as others in the state. If counties can decide not to meet their full shares of the financial obligations, the entire health district program of the state could collapse, he said.

Zoning request approved

TWIN FALLS — Request for a zoning variance from Western Beverage Corp. was approved Tuesday morning by the Twin Falls County Commission.

The variance for property south of Twin Falls and in an agricultural zone will permit the distributing company to add 3,500 square feet of additional cooler space. Owned by Tom Walker, the firm was located in the "agricultural area prior to zoning regulations now in effect."

Through granting of the variance, commissioners said, the firm will be permitted to go ahead with present expansion plans but future expansion will require further hearings and variance approval.

Tom Walker Jr., who attended the hearing said the firm has designed a receiving dock inside the property lines which will allow trucks to maneuver on the firm's own property without interfering with traffic on Orchard Drive.

No protests were received by the county Planning and Zoning Commission and there were no protests before the county commissioners Tuesday at the public hearing prior to the vote.

Jaycees in TF set deadline

TWIN FALLS — Nomination forms for the Jaycee distinguished service awards must be turned in by Friday.

Nomination forms are available at the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce office and can be returned there.

The junior award will be presented to the major woman under 35 who has contributed the most to community welfare and leadership during the past year. The senior award will be presented to the man or woman over 35 who has the same qualifications.

Organizations and individuals are asked to make nominations for the awards.

The awards dinner will be at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the American Legion Hall.

Utah man receives injuries

JEROME — A Salt Lake City man was treated and released from Magic Valley Memorial Hospital Tuesday after he was injured in a truck accident on Interstate 80N.

K. V. Pollock, 58, was alone in his truck when it went off the interstate between the Hansen and Twin Falls junctions.

Magic Valley Ambulance Service personnel said the accident occurred about 12:30 p.m. No other details were available.

You For It?

President Nixon's budget for 1973 sets a new spending record of nearly $247 billion, which will result in a record deficit and a fat increase in the national debt ceiling, which has reached the almost inconceivable sum of $430 billion.

Government overspending has become a habit and deficits the usual thing under Democrats and Republicans alike, since the days of FDR.

President Eisenhower managed small surpluses in two of his eight years. President Truman fought the big spenders in his own party and won some of his battles, but despite five years of surpluses, he wound up with a $16 billion deficit.

This sorry history of going deeper and deeper into debt has gone from bad to worse as Congress and the President have vied in spending programs, subsidies, and generosity to countries around the world.

Inflation and a Democratic Congress have forced President Nixon to raise the mountain of debt to a level that baffles human comprehension and dashes the hopes of many for a return to fiscal sanity. How much worse the figure might have been had Hubert Humphrey been elected can only be surmised.

Warnings of the dangers are plentiful. Devaluation of the dollar has by no means headed off the forebodings of the international money managers, who know from bitter experience that no nation, however rich, can go on and on in the red without eventual collapse.

Those few voices raised in Congress in behalf of common sense are almost drowned out by calls for greater spending. Senator Harry Byrd, of Virginia, a Democrat turned Independent, warns the nation can't keep piling up deficits without "risking the most dire consequences."

It's time for the American people to raise their voices in a mighty chorus and impress the President and Congress with the fact that Americans do not want to keep running headlong down the road to ruin.

But come to think of it, we citizens of Magic Valley—of Twin Falls, Jerome, Burley, Buhl, Rupert and lots of other places—are strong backers of less federal spending just so we get all our projects, that is!

ROWLAND EVANS & ROBERT NOVAK

It's Moscow's Israel Game

WASHINGTON—The sudden and wholly unexpected Soviet decision to flood Israel with Russian Jewish immigrants, after years of keeping the freedom door tightly locked, has convinced some American officials that Moscow's game is to overload Israel's domestic budget and force it to cut back on military spending.

Besides imposing that budgetary burden, the Russians are believed by experts to be plotting internal mischief for Israel: to distort Israel's political balance by feeding in rightist, fanatically anti-Communist Russian Jews.

Those dark motives may explain why the Arab world, fanatically opposed to any build-up of Israeli manpower through immigration, has not said a word in protest to the sudden policy switch by its patrons in the Kremlin.

The problem for Israel, after having pressed Moscow to permit immigration of Russian Jews for years, is grave and ironic. With Israel's demands finally granted, leading American Jews say the cost to Israel of an expected immigration up to 60,000 in 1972 would be a minimum $400 million, painfully burdensome to an Israel deeply in debt and with one of the world's highest tax rates.

The problem is worsened by Moscow's obvious decision to allow only the old, the very young and, mostly, the uneducated to leave the Soviet Union. The estimated cost for Israel of fitting these immigrants into Israeli society, where class and cultural conflicts are growing, is a minimum $35,000 per family.

In addition, the Soviet Union charges what amounts to a per capita price of $1,000 for every man, woman and child permitted to leave Russia for Israel. Half of that is "compensation" for such alleged Soviet expenditures as education, and the balance is somewhat precarious in an endless twilight war with the Arabs.

These are undoubtedly the explanations that Moscow is giving its Arab clients to account for the spectacular end to the closed-door policy toward Jewish emigration. The act is that no Arab country has yet criticized Moscow over what has always been a cardinal tenet of Arab policy toward Israel—total hostility toward Jewish immigration and the growth of the state of Israel.

Finally, Israel's newest problem quickly became enmeshed in the far-reaching tentacles of the American Presidential election.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, of Maine, front-running Democratic Presidential candidate, strongly urged President Nixon to ask Congress for a special appropriation to help Israel cope with the awesome financial problem posed by the swelling mass of new immigrants.

Muskie's appeal was made without contacting either Administration officials or the Israeli embassy here.

There is another, more insidious aspect of the expected flood of Russian Jews into Israel. They are without exception hard-line anti-Communists. Accordingly, they are ripe prospects for joining Gahal, the hard-right Israeli political party which walked out of Prime Minister Golda Meir's government in the summer of 1970 when she accepted the U.S. proposal for a cease-fire along the Suez Canal.

Thus, the sudden Soviet decision not only raises

"HOLD EVERYTHING!"

Not Likely

No new states have joined the Union since Alaska and Hawaii, but it is argued from time to time that some of the states might be better administered if they were broken into several parts. Northern and southern California perhaps do not have much in common, according to one theory, and neither do New York City and New York state.

So much for efforts to decentralize. A Kansas state legislator views the situation from a reverse point of departure. He would have the states of Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska combine into one.

It would be more efficient to administer one superstate than four smaller ones, he reasons. And, perhaps it would. If the Kansan's plan were followed, the new state of Coklakansneb or would it be Kanslorbraskhoma?—would have a population only slightly smaller than Michigan, and an area which would place it between Alaska and Texas.

There is little likelihood, of course, that the Kansas lawmaker's proposal will materialize. If all other obstacles were removed, Washington would enter an objection. On the ground it is heresy to claim the larger the government unit, the more efficient its administration.

ART BUCHWALD

Peking "No"

WASHINGTON Not everyone is thrilled with President Nixon's visit to China next month. My friend MacGonnacky believes Mr. Nixon should go to Havana first.

The was I see it," MacGonnacky said. "The President is going to a Communist country 4,000 miles away when it would be much easier for him, if he really wants to see a Communist country, to hop over from Key Biscayne to Cuba in a helicopter. It would save this country an awful lot of money.

The President isn't going to the People's Republic of China just to see it. He has urgent business to discuss with Mao Tse-tung.

That's another thing. How come we still refer to Castro's country as Communist Cuba and we now call Mao's country the People's Republic of China?

Because, I explained patiently, we're trying to build bridges between Red the People's Republic of China and the United States.

Why aren't we trying to build any bridges between Cuba and the United States?

Because Cuba is an out-of-itself exporting revolution around the world.

What's the People's Republic of Red China? doesn't MacGonnacky ask.

"China, though we may not agree with its philosophy, is a major power, and it's better to talk with them than eventually to fight them."

Are you saying then that since Cuba is not a major power, it's better to fight them than to talk with them?"

I'm not saying that at all. But you must remember that Cuba is a constant threat to us."

I thought everyone agreed before Nixon announced his visit that China was the biggest threat to us."

"It was before, but how that President Nixon is going there, it's not as big a threat as it was before."

"Who are the biggest threats to the United States right now?" MacGonnacky demanded.

"Cuba, the Soviet Union and India."

Well, if China is no longer a threat to us, why are we still building the ABM system to defend us against their missiles?"

Because Canada is mad at us and as long as we started building it we might as well finish it in case Trudeau gets any funny ideas.

MacGonnacky couldn't be convinced. I still think Nixon should go to Cuba first and then work his way up to China. If he makes some gaffes negotiating with a Communist country, it might as well be a little one rather than a big one.

"It's too late," I said. "Nixon has his heart set on going to China. Besides he'll get a lot more TV coverage going to Peking than he would if he went to Havana."

"I may be selfish," MacGonnacky said. "But I'd give up Nixon's trip to Peking for one good boy 4 Montecristo years any day."

cheap labor, I said. If we can come to terms with Mao

Tse-tung we could have 800 million people working for us and we wouldn't have to work at all. Isn't that better than vintage Havana?

ANDREW TULLY

It Makes Sense

WASHINGTON It is not hard to believe the flat statement made over a luncheon table by a competent

White House source that "the South Vietnamese will have taken over the war completely by election day."

The statement makes sense.

Richard Nixon is no amateur and it's logical for him to feel that since he eventually will withdraw all U.S. troops he may as well do the job before the electorate goes to the polls. In short, sometime next summer he almost surely will announce that the Saigon government is capable of defending South Vietnam against a Communist takeover and that therefore no further need exists for an American presence.

Laird took note of this aspect the other day when Nixon told a press conference of his decision to cut the U.S. troop ceiling in half, to a total of no more than 69,000 men, by May 1. The Defense Secretary had misunderstood those who criticized the President's withdrawal schedule as people who had been silent in 1968 and before

"when we were on the escalator, going up, up, up."

MR. SPECTATOR

Think It Ain't So?

It has been calculated that the total worth of the common stock of the 10 largest companies in the so-called military-industrial complex is about $17 billion.

That is less than that of a single cosmetics firm. Avon is rated at about $5.6 billion.

Annual spending on cosmetics exceeds $5 billion a year in the United States, says Patrick Ryan writing in the Smithsonian magazine. But rather than joining all those folks who would point out all the things this money would buy, Ryan defends the "cosmetological complex."

"We die without dreams," he says.

And anyway he adds, the face goo, lipstick, miracle potions and whatnot insure that at least half the human landscape is more pleasant to the passing eye than evolution has thus far crudely achieved.

And one more thing—Mr. Spectator would point out—or rather would ask you—to take a good look at the little woman in early morning before she puts on her "face." Anyone who could then be against cosmetics would have to be some kind of a nut.

President airs US peace offer

(Continued from p. 1) was the demand that the United States withdraw all support from the Thieu government, endorsement of Thieu in itself represented something of an achievement. In his own recent one-man campaign for re-election, Thieu's platform had been one of no compromise with the Communists, no coalition government, and no Communists in the government. Missing from the U.S. offer was any reference to what has been a key Communist position outweighing by far in their eyes the prisoner of war issue. This

Peace proposal reactions vary

By United Press International

The world reacted today to President Nixon's new eight-point Vietnam peace proposal with a mixture of approval, hope, and doubt born of years of mistrust and deadlocked efforts to stop a decade of war.

"We've had so many promises before," said Pfc. Robert Scroggins, 20, of Palmyra, Ill., after listening to a radio broadcast of Nixon's speech along with other GIs at Tan Son Nhut Air Base near Saigon.

Spec 4 Harold L. Smith, 18, of Greenville, Miss., said: "I don't think the plan will work. I think the Communists will feel you were trying to trick them, that you were planning some sort of doublecross."

"When we leave, it will be just like before. The North Vietnamese are going to take over."

The Japanese government on an official communiqué in Tokyo hailed the proposal as a "positive one" and expressed hope there would soon be peace in Vietnam.

Tran Van Tuyen, who leads the opposition bloc in the South Vietnamese national assembly, said:

"President Nixon has given in completely to the Communist demands."

Prime Minister William Mc-Mahon said in Canberra that

US offer dismissed

PARIS (UPI)—A Viet Cong spokesman dismissed as insufficient Tuesday any offer by President Nixon to set a date for a U.S. military withdrawal from Vietnam in exchange for release of American prisoners of war held by the Communists.

The spokesman for the Viet Cong delegation to the Paris peace talks, Ly Van Sau, said that if Nixon wanted peace, he must also drop the Saigon regime of President Nguyen Van Thieu. He charged that Nixon "seeks to buy time."

The Viet Cong official was reacting to reports that Nixon was prepared to set a specific date for full withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam once the Communists agreed to free American prisoners of war.

But it appeared the political debate on the war might continue nonetheless. Reaction generally fell along party or ideological lines, some of it little different than before.

The National Peace Action Coalition said the American people don't want an eight-point plan, but a one-point plan for the United States to get out of Indochina now, lock, stock and barrel.

The eight-point plan, which Nixon said would be offered publicly once again in Paris on Thursday, included:

Total U.S. and allied withdrawal from South Vietnam within six months of agreement.

Release of all POWs concurrent with pullout.

Internationally supervised elections, with resignation of the Thieu government one month before balloting and a pledge of neutrality from the United States.

Both sides will respect the 1954 Geneva Agreement on Indochina and the 1962 Agreement on Laos, with no more foreign intervention in Indochina.

Future Indochinese problems will be settled by the countries themselves, with each nation's forces remaining behind its own frontiers.

A general cease-fire starting when agreement is signed with no more infiltration from outside that date on.

International supervision of cease-fire, POW release and troop withdrawals.

International guarantee of the rights of Indochinese people, the status of all countries in Indochina and for lasting peace in the region.

Talk boosts hopes home, she said. "I don't feel the war will end as quickly as we'd like." Graf was reported missing in action after being captured in South Vietnam in November 1969.

Mrs. Shirley Johnson of Plano, Tex., whose husband has been missing six years, said: "My hopes don't get too high. I think the only time I will get real excited is when they really say they are coming home."

"I've been awfully depressed lately, and I did get excited today," said Mrs. Joe Jeffrey of Dallas, wife of Air Force Capt. Robert D. Jeffrey who was shot down over North Vietnam in December, 1965. "But I was afraid too because I've been disappointed so many times in the past I don't see how I can take any more excitement. I don't know what more President Nixon can do than he has done."

Nixon said he hoped public disclosure of the heretofore secret talks would inject some forward motion into the Paris discussions.

If the past provides any clue, the hope must be put down as a forlorn one.

The Australian government would welcome a negotiated settlement of the war.

In the streets of Saigon, Vietnamese citizens appeared startled by President Thieu's offer to resign from office to help in Nixon's proposal to end the fighting.

"Everybody thought he was too power hungry to even mention quitting," said a shopkeeper on busy Tu Do Street in the heart of Saigon.

In Paris, the Communist delegations to the Paris peace talks said they were urgently studying Nixon's new proposal and had no immediate comment.

The Soviet press and government were both silent on the proposal. Nothing about it was published in Moscow morning newspapers or mentioned by the Soviet news agency Tass.

The Cambodian government hailed the peace proposal as proof of Nixon's "real desire to end the war in Vietnam." But the communiqué in Phnom Penh said that for Cambodia, peace depended on the withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops.

Tran Van Tuyen, who leads the opposition bloc in the South Vietnamese national assembly,

Nixon wins bipartisan support on peace offer

Jerry Gordon of the National Peacetime Action Coalition said Americans do not want an eight-point peace plan but a one-point plan: for the U.S. to get out of Indochina now, lock, stock and barrel.

Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W. Va., called it "a far-reaching proposal for peace that reasonable men should not reject."

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford said Nixon had "set the record straight" on his negotiations and hopefully his peace plan now made public, will be a start toward an ultimate settlement."

Rep. John Ashbrook, R-Ohio, who is running against Nixon for the GOP presidential nomination, commended the President for "refusing to bow to pressures from the left at home" but said he was concerned that the POWs had become "pawns in the Communist quest for advantage."

Ashbrook cautioned Nixon against withdrawing

"simply on the basis of negotiated promise."

During the visit the three men met local Communist party and other left-wing leaders.

They did not meet any top

Israeli government officials.

Speaking for the group at a news conference, Prof. Solomon

Gallop of Moscow University, himself a Jew, denied a mass exodus of Jews from the Soviet Union to Israel has begun.

Last month some 3,000 Jews arrived in Israel from the Soviet Union and Israeli officials have predicted 35,000 will arrive this year.

I am a Jew who loves his people and culture," Gallop told Israeli newsmen who angry questions on the status of Jews in the Soviet Union. I am also a Marxist and a Communist.

Try to be objective. Anyone who wishes to leave the Soviet Union can do so, except those engaged on security projects.

We have Jews who have visas to leave who do not wish to do so.

Only 20,000, or one per cent of Soviet Jewry has left the Soviet Union. I believe in the do not let us get things out of proportion.

Nixon reached back into the specified no amount.

Skyscraper burns

NEW YORK (UPI)—A fire, possibly caused by a bomb, blazed through the upper floors of a midtown skyscraper today, killing at least one person, possibly two, and injuring seven others including famed impresario Sol Hurok, who was reported in serious condition.

Shortly after the fire broke out, National Broadcasting Company received an anonymous phone call saying two incendiary devices had been detonated at the offices of the 83-year-old Hurok at Columbia Artists Inc., located several blocks away. A "suspicious" fire also was reported at Columbia Artists.

Jurors examined by both sides

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)—The jury of 12 and four alternates were sworn in and locked up, and he added: "That may take a couple of days."

The Rev. Philip Berrigan and six other antiwar activists are accused of conspiring to kidnap Presidential adviser Henry A.

Kissinger, blow up heating systems of federal buildings in the nation's capital and raid draft boards in nine states.

The seven defendants have said the crimes they are accused of were planned to bring their case against the Vietnam War before the public.

Resolution approved

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Senate Democrats unanimously approved Tuesday a resolution calling for uniform application of civil rights laws in every section of the country, North as well as South.

The resolution was offered at a closed-door meeting by Sen. David H. Gambrell, D-Ga.

The resolution stated whereas civil rights laws are intended to secure equal protection of the laws for all citizens, now therefore be it resolved by the Senate Democratic Conference that this body through its leadership shall make every effort to require that all laws securing equal protection of the laws themselves apply equally and uniformly in every section of the country.

Republican officers

ACTIVE YEAR ahead for the Twin Falls County Republican Women's Club will be under the leadership of new officers installed Monday. From left are Mrs. Jack Scott, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Stradley, president, and Mrs. Wayne Wyatt, secretary. Election and installation were conducted at the Rogerson Hotel during a luncheon meeting Monday. Harold Lancaster, county clerk, addressed the meeting.

Mrs. Stradley elected head of TF GOP women

TWIN FALLS — Mrs. Robert Stradley, Kimberly, was elected president of the Twin Falls County Republican Women Monday afternoon.

She was installed with other new officers by Mrs. Roy Painter, outgoing vice president. Other officers are Mrs. Robert Ullman, Twin Falls vice president; Mrs. Jack Scott, Twin Falls treasurer, and Mrs. Wayne Wyatt, Twin Falls, secretary.

Harold Lancaster, Twin Falls County clerk, auditor and election officer, addressed the women, explaining new election laws and recommendations county officials feel would help in conducting voting.

Lancaster said four changes in election and registration procedure in Idaho would improve the present system. He recommended having a list of registered voters accompany the registration cards at each voting place; having one registration for all elections to eliminate confusion about registration; having 14 instead of 27 precincts in Twin Falls, and using the same precincts in all elections, and he suggested wallet registration cards showing the precinct number of the voter.

Lancaster explained election law changes now include permitting 18 year old residents to seek election as precinct committee men. He said under the new uniform registration system, a voter is registered for eight years whether or not he votes during that time. This year the district legislative chairman will be elected by precinct committee men rather than appearing on the primary ballot, Lancaster said.

The speaker also said about 2,000 new young voters have registered in Twin Falls County, but he said the response at the polls from these voters

Lincoln census reports

SHOSHONE — The 1970 Census of Housing counted a total of 1,152 housing units in Lincoln County, and 882 households with at least one television set.

The report further shows that there are 143 housing units with air conditioning (98 with room units and 45 with a central system); 763 units with clothes washing machine; 513 with a clothes dryer; and 195 with a dishwasher.

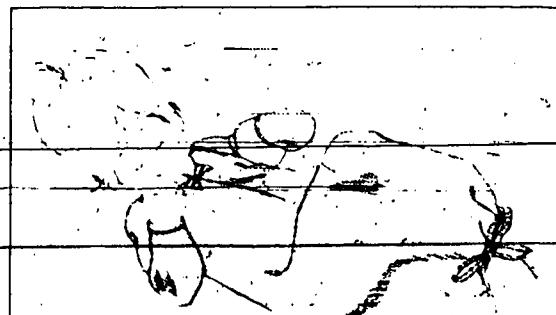

The 1970 population was 3,057 in the county, with an average of 3.2 persons per housing unit. A total of 864 housing units were built before 1949, 163 during the 1950's, and 63 during 1960-64, and 34 within the five-year period preceding the April 1970 census.

Utility gas was used to cook meals in 47 households, electricity in another 856 and bottled tank or LP gas in none.

Mrs. Painter discussed the community-wide anti-litter campaign and urged members to support efforts to make Twin Falls the cleanest city in the state. Mrs. Stradley suggested members subscribe to the Republican Women's publication, Focus.

Ad Hoc Committee traps funding plan

By RICHARD CHARNOCK
BOISE (UPI) — If Monday night's input was any criterion house taxwriters might as well disband their Ad Hoc Committee on 100 per cent state funding of the public schools.

Despite pleas from Rep. John Edwards, R-Council, chairman of the Revenue and Taxation Subcommittee assigned this task, the Ad Hoc Committee frankly sat on its collective hands.

Two points seem fairly well established:

The subcommittee will try to find revenues to pay for 100 per cent of classroom costs but leave plant operation and maintenance to be paid at the local level.

Increases in state-level taxes must be offset with corresponding reductions in local property taxes.

With these ideas in mind three lawmakers submitted proposals to the Ad Hoc Committee — a collection of educators, tax experts and other legislators — for consideration.

Based on estimates of total school costs ranging from $110 million to $113 million, these proposals offered various solutions for finding money to pay for them.

Among them were disallowance of the federal tax credit on state income taxes, elimination of the production exemption on sales taxes, communication service exemptions from the sales tax and others.

Rep. Robert Haakenson, D-Coeur d'Alene, author of one of the plans and a member of the tax subcommittee, frankly said later "I was disappointed" when asked about the input.

Analysis

Except for a few comments on details not really relevant to the discussion at hand — such as where does the legislature find the extra state money — this input from the "advisors" was nil.

Representatives of the Idaho

Board of Education did discuss Haakenson's plan but offered no suggestions on funding it. There were spokesmen for the Idaho Education Association, school districts and others — but nobody wanted to speak out for any specific tax increases.

Edwards, therefore, must get his subcommittee together this week and begin hammering out a plan to finance increased state funding of the schools — and do so without guidance from the Ad Hoc Committee.

He indicated that once he gets a plan from his subcommittee he will preview it before the Ad Hoc Committee early next week and then, hopefully, will take it to the full tax committee.

Legislative roundup

Gem school merger commission sought

BOISE (UPI) — The House Education Committee submitted for introduction Tuesday a bill calling for creation of a 12-member state commission on school district consolidation.

It directs the Idaho State Board of Education to establish the commission within 60 days following the effective date of the act. It states the commissioners should represent geographic areas of the state and include but not be limited to representatives of the school trustees, school administrators and state department of education.

This commission is directed to prepare a preliminary statewide plan or plans for school organization and submit it to the state board of education.

Following approval by the state board the commission then must conduct public hearings throughout the state. After these hearings the commission is charged with refining the plan or plans and submitting a final, single proposal to the state board.

At that point it will be up to the state board of education to review, accept or modify the plan and then set a timetable for putting it into effect.

A MAJOR EXPANSION of the Lynwood Shopping Center has started with the "basics" — moving the sewer lines back to allow excavation of a basement of the building housing Penny Wise Drugs, Sallee's Books and King's-Neilsen and Co. is trenching out a new route for the sewer lines, before work starts on the big job of expanding Penny Wise and its neighbors. The building permit for the expansion has not yet been issued, however, according to city officials. Jack Muldoon, manager of Penny Wise, said formal announcement of the expansion must await issuance of the permit.

Hailey Chamber discusses Days of Old West and street improvement

HAILEY Parks, Main Street improvements and the "Days of the Old West" celebration were the main topics of discussion during the Hailey Chamber of Commerce meeting Monday.

Claude "Pop" Porter, city commissioner of parks, discussed a proposal to build a nine-hole golf course on a 52-acre site between the Union Pacific railroad track and U.S. highway 93.

Four Burley businessmen are willing to deed the land which lies adjacent to the planned housing development to the city, Porter said. Because of state grants to build the course, the facility "will not cost the city anything," he said.

Porter said he had met with the state parks board in Boise and has scheduled a second meeting with the board.

"Also under discussion was the Hailey Tourist Park and the planned park near the new sewage treatment plant."

Money is available through the city's parks fund, Porter said. "I'm going to see something accomplished on park construction by this fall," he said.

Porter also said that four engineers, Boise, were preparing a plan for the improvement of sidewalks, lighting and gutters on Main Street, which the council hopes will conform to a local Improvement District.

In other action, Wally Young, president of the "Days of the Old West" celebration, which is conducted Fourth of July weekend, said that planning for the event must begin now.

He said that the planning committee needs more help and requested that either the Hailey Rotary or the chamber of commerce, or both, take over a specific task in conjunction with the event.

It was said that the Blaine County school trustees are interested in National high School Rodeo membership and that he had been assured of student help to repair the corrals behind the chute at the Hailey rodeo grounds. The cost of the project is estimated at $1,000.

Shoshone plants needs assessment

SHOSHONE A review of the goals and educational philosophy will be the first step in a needs assessment of the Shoshone School District.

School Supt. Kenneth Crothers, Principal Jack D. Bowlin and Mrs. R. G. Neher were appointed Monday evening to prepare that review and submit it to the district needs assessment committee Feb. 5 that meeting is set for 11:30 a.m. at the high school.

An explanation of the program was given to the 12-member committee at a dinner meeting Monday evening by Orville Redington and Richard Kays, both Boise, et al. Idaho Board of Education. They will serve as advisers.

The 12-member assessment program is an evaluation of the school system being tried in Idaho for the first time this year. SHS, St. Luke's, Fayette and McCall are serving as the trial. Crothers said evaluation of the school system is required every 10 years in order to meet accreditation requirements toward renewing accreditation.

Credit card law changed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Credit card owners cannot be held liable for more than $50 worth of unauthorized purchases regardless of when the card was issued, under 1970 Credit Card Law provisions that became effective Monday.

Credit card companies also as of Monday, must devise identification systems for use by merchants or the card companies cannot collect any part of the value of goods or services obtained on stolen cards.

The credit card provisions were part of the Truth in Lending Act signed into law Oct. 26, 1970, and which banned unsolicited issuance of credit cards and made it a federal crime, punishable by a $10,000 fine or five years in prison or both, to run up a bill of $5,000 or more in goods or services with a stolen or lost card.

The $50 liability protection for legitimate card holders had two effective dates, providing coverage as of Jan. 24, 1973, for cards issued after that date, and then effective Monday.

Youth ranch at Rupert asks own school district

By LEE TREMAINE
Times-News writer

RUPERT — The Idaho Youth Ranch, located about 15 miles north of Rupert, may become a school district all by itself if plans of Director Lee Childs are realized.

Childs discussed proposed legislation designating the ranch as a state-supported school district with trustees of the Minidoka County School District.

The Youth Ranch director said designation of the faculty as a school district would allow distribution of state funds under the average daily attendance formula. In addition, the ranch could apply for federal grants, such as the Title I and Title III funds under the federal Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Childs asked trustees to approve the proposal, in essence, while continuing to work with him in dealing with troubled youngsters. If the measure takes effect, the majority of Youth Ranch youngsters would remain at the facility for their education, but those needing special training could still travel to Minidoka Schools.

Childs said he was in effect asking the approval of the trustees, since the district would lose the few students now attending Rupert schools, and would lose the per-student financing from the state.

The trustees voted unanimously to support the proposal when it comes before the Idaho Legislature. Hatfield said the district would lose only about 16 students, but would also lose the administrative work involved in educating Youth Ranch residents.

Childs' proposal will be drafted into the proper legislation and presented to the Legislature as soon as possible, he said. Sen. John Peavey, R-Minidoka, will probably serve as floor sponsor. Childs said to continue their discussions Tuesday night.

DURING Tuesday's

trustees debated the issue at length Monday night, then voted to continue their discussions

Tuesday night.

During Tuesday's

construction of a multipurpose learning area for 300 students at Raft River, for $120,000.

Consolidation of elementary schools at Springdale and Declo, with students in the Springdale attendance area attending Declo; construction of new rooms for music students and hot-lunch facilities; convert Declo High School into junior high, all at a cost of $715,000.

Renovate and remodel

Oakley High School into a minor high school, with 200 students from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Feb. 29.

The $3.5 million in bonds would add 11 mills of taxation to the Burley district for the next 20 years, Blauer said.

Trustees will canvas the votes on March 6. Polls will be open at designated sites from 8

Market Review

Temperatures

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks drifted lower in relatively quiet trading on the New York Stock Exchange Wednesday.

Quick Communist rejection of President Nixon's peace plan, which included new national elections in Vietnam, apparently diminished any stimulus from the President's Tuesday night revelation.

Saul Smerling, senior vice president of Standard & Poor's, said "the market needs more tangible evidence that the economy is thriving, and for the near term I'd expect the market to continue its consolidation until land, if such evidence appears."

Some analysts expressed wariness about the decline in durable goods orders in December. There has been two months of gains.

The Dow Jones industrial average was down 4.14 at 890.58 near 1:15 p.m. The Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was off 0.24 at 102.54. Declines topped advances by more than 50 issues among the 1,688 traded.

Turnover amounted to about 8,590,000 shares, compared with 11,550,000 during the comparable period Tuesday.

International Paper, on the strength of a 100,000-share block, was the most active issue. It was off 1%.

Among the strong features were Control Data, up 1%; Memorex, 1%; Texas Instruments, 1%; Itek, 1%; and Walt Disney, 1%.

Getty Oil was delayed in opening because of an influx of orders. The company reported lower fourth quarter earnings and predicted lower 1972 earnings.

Falcon scout says quality not available in grid draft

ATLANTA UPI—Tom Braatz, director of player personnel for the Atlanta Falcons, says this past season's crop of college players was thinner than usual and a heck of a lot thinner than last year, but that was an exceptionally good year.

Braatz says there are plenty of linemen, and defensive halfbacks available next week, but it was a bad year so far.

There are always some surprises in those first couple of rounds," said Braatz, "enough that we've got reason to expect that we'll still find at least one of our top 26 still available when we get around to them."

But Braatz feels it's going to be rather slim pickings after that.

Last year was a good year, so far as numbers went," said Braatz. "There were a lot more people we felt could play than are available this year."

But we'll go at it as we always have," he continued. "We'll look for the best available athletes and then try to fit them in."

Braatz said that so far as college experience is concerned, the defensive backs are the best prepared to make the adjustment to pro football.

The Falcons' chief scout says the heavy emphasis on the "wishbone" by college teams is going to demand "considerable adjustment" so far as the offensive players are concerned.

But you still look for that

The 84-year-old millionaire from Chicago added, however, the eligibility committee is well acquainted with our views."

Reports have circulated about a so-called "list" of skiers who have violated the Olympic code by allowing themselves to be photographed with equipment labeled by brand names and for receiving money for promoting the equipment.

This is a highly aggravated situation," Brundage said. "There have been scandals in skiing for many years. The Olympic movement and the 11th Winter Games will be harmed if they're the Games are kept."

If certain individuals are disqualified, that's too bad. We've heard stories of those whose toes have been stepped on, but that's too bad.

Knicks edge Celts at gun

NEW YORK UPI—Dave DeBusschere scored the winning basket with 11 seconds left Tuesday night as the New York Knicks blew a 20-point lead and then rallied from an 11-point fourth-quarter deficit to defeat the Boston Celtics, 109-106.

Boston had a chance to tie the score after DeBusschere's basket made it 100-100, but Len Nelson fouled Walt Frazier after a missed Celtic shot. Frazier netted one of two free throws to finish with a career-high 30 points.

Boston led 68-67 with 10 remaining in the game, while Frazier and DeBusschere went on an 11-point surge to cut the deficit in half. The former Bear Meinger sank two free shots with 42 seconds left to give New York a 109-106 lead. White collected a rebound to tie the score at 109, and DeBusschere hit his second free throw to give the Knicks a 111-110 victory.

We will admit those interested in sports for sports sake and exclude those interested in sports for financial reasons, Brundage said. As for disqualifying athletes that's done by committees created for that purpose. I don't disqualify people.

Braatz indicated the pros are a bit concerned this year about the fact that many of the better interior linemen are a bit small by our standards.

Our come-uppance bigger people," he said. "It doesn't do us any good to consider a defensive lineman who isn't at least 6-foot-2 or 3-1. He might be strong enough to play but he just wouldn't have enough height to defend most plays."

Burley thumps Buhl by 73-47

BURLEY — Nighting of their backs through most of the first period, the Burley Bobcats outscored Buhl 10-0 in the final two minute for the lead and went on to topple the Buhl Indians 73-47 in a non-conference battle.

Buhl put up a stiff fight over the first half and was down only four points with a minute and one-half left in the second period. Then Kent Sager closed the quarter with six points and Mike Sager opened the second half with three points as the Bobcats moved into a comfortable margin and stayed there.

Both teams were hurt by foul problems, 6-10 for Frazier, picking up three fouls in the first five and one-half minutes and then fouling out in the fourth period after playing less than half the game. Buhl's Mark Heaps got three quick ones and sat out just over a quarter.

Buhl threw a 19-point first quarter at the highly-favored Bobcats and at one stretch managed a seven-point lead.

But then Burley's inside defense started intimidating and Kent Sager spearheaded an outside ballhawking defense as Burley came up with repeated steals.

Craig Saunders started Buhl out well, hitting the Indians first six points for a 6-2 lead. Cory Kidd steadied Burley at that point with a couple of goals and three minutes later Tracy Nielsen and Mike Sager pulled the Bobcats to within 14-12. Buhl's Kendall Meier opened that with a three-point play and Joel Watson hit a field goal as Frazier picked up his third foul.

The combination of the seven-point lead and Frazier going to the bench buoyed the Indian followers.

But Frazier's replacement, junior Dave Randklev, Mike Sagers and Nielsen then combined for the next 10 points

— two of them off steals — as Burley took control.

Watson cut it to 22-21 as the second period began and it stayed tight with little scoring until the 1:29 mark when Kent

Sagers came up with his six points to blow Buhl ahead 35-26 at intermission.

Mike Sagers got his three to start the second half and came back with a field goal after

Frazier talked two charity tosses. That put Burley on top

42-36 and decided it, although

Burley couldn't get beyond 20 points away until the closing moments.

Buhl won the preliminary

TWIN FALLS Children who patronize the Twin Falls Public Library are being offered an opportunity to become acquainted with some of the great painting through the new Mini-Masters collection.

The mini-masters include miniature reproductions of world famous paintings, selected for their special appeal to children. Each reproduction is in full color in sizes of about four by seven inches and is custom framed and hand varnished.

The paintings may be checked out for a three week period by young library fans in the children's department.

Saying very little other than the result of thinking twice before you open your mouth, Wayne York said it is time to forget the "adults" in our and quit playing games with boys and girls their education and their futures.

York said the game begins with the proposed $2.6 million in state funds to be used if Andrus proposed for public education for the coming year.

FORECAST FOR THE

expressing your will you be able to get now in effect which martyr. However, I would their thoughts from critics for everyone.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Your part to kin can easily have settled at home in colorful, charming Handle it

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) — A good friend you have not seen for a long time will be a great assistance to you when you are in trouble. Buy whatever you need to buy without delay. Think more pleasure than work.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — You will have to be very careful with your money at the moment. There is a strong chance that you will be faced with financial difficulties. It would be wise to consult with a financial expert before you make any major purchases or investments. You may also need to take steps to protect your savings from potential losses.

MOON CHILDREN (June 24) Affairs can best be handled by a and courteous fashion now. It make you feel better, more alive any way, though.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 23) -
Understand their ideas and needs better. Others are feeling a little

Georgian exhibit praised

PHILIP, Georgia USSR
UPI—For American plan it was a nightmare. For thousands of Georgians, it was an exciting adventure—of an unknown world of Princess telephones and Apollo moon rovers.

Despite serious logistical and damage problems and a rival Soviet science show nearly a $2 million U.S.-modern living technology exhibit opened on schedule Monday and got a warm reception in this capital of the southern Soviet Republic where Josef V. Stalin was born.

In the first five hours more than 300 persons, by official tally, had visited the controllers to see, touch and ask questions about maximars, computers, Princess telephones, a slightly damaged Lincoln Continental and the Apollo 10 command module.

The exhibit called "Research and Development USA" is on an 11-month tour of the Soviet Union that will take it to six cities. Its opening in Tashkent, 20 miles from the Turkish border, was delayed one year by chilly U.S.-Soviet relations.

It is the first American cultural exhibit in the Soviet Union in almost two years and is in exchange for a Soviet arts and crafts exhibit which opened in Washington last week.

Heavy delivery of key materials and demands to some exhibits forced a last minute reorganization of floor plans that cut the U.S. show from two pavilions to one and left about 25 percent of the display in storage in American Royal said.

A U.S. spokesman said Soviet officials blamed the damage and late delivery on accidental jostling and unforeseen delays. Most of the equipment was shipped by rail from Vienna and reloaded into Russian boxcars at the border, he said.

Soviet man to write memoirs

MOSCOW (UPI)—Demetrius I. Longo said he spent most of his life swallowing swords, walking on nails, drinking molten tin and pulling on his eyeballs. It did him no harm. Longo will turn 100 next week.

The Soviet magazine Yunist Youth said Longo, a famous folk hero and devilish, is writing memoirs of his life as a sideshow artist in Russia. The magazine published excerpts from the memoirs in connection with Longo's 100th birthday.

In his heyday, the magazine said, Longo walked barefoot on burning coals and on the points of Potemkin spears and Turkish sabres. He lay down on beds of nails, drank molten tin and吞ed spirits.

For him, swallowing a sword was a mere trifle; he could even remove his own eyeball and pull it back.

In his 90s, Longo revealed the secret of sword swallowing: "It involves feathers and goose fat," and he described some more spectacular stage tricks. He also offered a reason for his long life.

The 100-year-old Longo said an unlikely secret because he never feared death. "The doctor said, 'He quoted his favorite poet, Pushkin: 'You will die but once so it is not worth worrying about it.'

Longo said he began his career at the age of 14 in the town of Nizhne-Uralsk where he joined a carnival as a roustabout, ticket taker and part-time magician. Later, he said, he teamed up with a 94-year-old gramps and a 70-year-old lady.

This was in the 1900s, he said, and it was about then that he acquired a French-speaking parrot named Ara. Ara was five years older than me at the time, he said. He still lives, and that makes him 100 years old.

Longo, Ara, the giant and the budget-toured Russian cities with their acrobats, and it gradually expanded. He once had a family of acrobatic cockroaches that performed tricks in a miniature playground.

He thrilled audiences in Kharkov by conjuring a human fetus in a chemist's glass beaker.

Bel Canto Trio to appear in TF concert Thursday

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Community Concert Association 1971-72 series continues at 8:15 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 27, when the Bel Canto Trio appears at the City Arts Center Auditorium. The trio is composed of Maria Novak, soprano; George Livings, tenor, and Samuel Timberlake, baritone. Miss Novak is a native of Portland and a graduate of Oregon State University, where she majored in voice and studies in New York.

Timberlake won one of the top awards in the Metropolitan Opera auditions and toured with the Metropolitan Opera National Co. She has also studied at the Vienna Academy of Arts. Livings is a graduate of Austin College, Sherman, Tex., and a bachelor of music degree from Valparaiso University, where he is a member of the faculty, teaching voice, introduction to music and opera workshop.

The concert admission is by membership only.

DEAR ABBY: I have just returned from an interview for a secretarial position. The boss himself interviewed me, and I must say, I was surprised at some of the questions he asked me.

He wanted to know if I was on "the Pill." (I had already told him I was recently divorced.)

Then he asked, "Do you drink?" I told him I didn't. Then he smiled and added, "Not even a little social drinking once in a while?" I said "No. I just don't care for it." Then he looked at me like I was some kind of oddball.

He also asked me if I ever "turned on" with drugs. By that time I had had it, and replied, "Good grief, no."

I doubt if that interview will result in a job offer. But, if it does, I shall turn it down.

Not having sought employment for 10 years, perhaps I am out of touch with today's scene. But I'd like to know if these questions are routine in an interview today? Or did this particular man have something else in mind?

SHOCKED IN MANHATTAN

DEAR SHOCKED: The questions you were asked were not routine, and I suspect the man who interviewed you had ulterior motives in mind. For HIM—not you.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a long-distance truck driver. I told him a few weeks ago that I worried a lot about his driving at night because I was afraid he might doze off, and he told me I shouldn't worry because one of the other drivers gave him some "stay awake" pills.

I begged him not to take any pills unless he knows what is in them, and suggested that he go to our family doctor if he felt he needed something to help him stay awake.

He said I was "dumb" to worry, but I love him, and I'm afraid he might get hooked on drugs. Is this possible, and what can I do?

SO WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Yes, it's possible. Keep after him until he goes to his family doctor. It is dangerous for anyone to take pills which have not been prescribed especially for him.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please say something to considerate "children" who are now married and have their own families, but who pile up bills and then ask their parents to "loan" them money to pay these bills, but who never repay the loan? These bills, I want to say, are not for necessities, but for luxuries and extras.

When our children were small, we scrimped and saved, so that we have to do it all over again in our old age.

DEAR ABBY: Any remodeling or a little nurturing would be greatly appreciated by these small children. We love them and do not want them to feel bad.

THANK YOU

DEAR HONDO: Nothing like old fashioned and simple sayings and sayings to either do or say.

DEAR WORRIED: Please don't let this worry you about "loaning" you.

A Lovelier You

SPRING REDUCING -- CALF

By Mary Sue Miller

Is a better legline on your self-improvement program? Well, then, perform the following routines daily, and you'll soon see a trimmer curve take shape.

1. Lie on back and raise legs straight up. Cross right leg over left, so that calf brushes shinbone; similarly cross left leg over right. Alternating, repeat 20 times. Keep movements short and brisk.

2. On back, stretch out straight. Raise right leg perpendicular to floor; bend knee and try to touch heel to back of thigh; with forceful (legshaking) kick, return to starting position.

Repeat 10 times, and work with left leg.

3. Stand with feet together and weight on heels; pull leg muscles upward, starting at ankles and letting action flow through calf. Knee and thigh. Relax and repeat 5 times.

To take the guesswork out of results, here are the ideal calf measurements for individual heights: Height 5' to 5'3" — Calf 12 1/4"; Height 5'4" to 5'6" — Calf 13"; Height, over 5'7" — Calf 13 1/2" to 14". Measurement is taken at fullest curve. You may subtract a half-inch from figure given for you, if your bones are very small.

LEGGING TUMMERS

If you've never tried to lose weight for my new fad, LEGGING TRIMMERS, which contains spot reducing exercises that will meet your individual needs, whether for thighs, knees, calves or ankles, contact me for your entire regime. Demo hopeful prettiest in Gem state

TWIN FALLS — Rose-Marie Bowman is just "mother" to her 7-year-old son Gregory, but to the rest of the state she's the prettiest candidate running for the United States Senate.

Mrs. Bowman who formally announced earlier this month for the seat being vacated by Sen. Len B. Jordan, tried to get her son to form a "students for Bowman" movement in his grade school in Boise, but he was very disinterested, she said.

One political figure does inspire the youngest member of the Bowman household, however. He likes Hubert Humphrey because he saw the former vice president make a banana split on television.

The object of Gregory's political awe is, like his mother, a Democrat.

Mrs. Bowman is making her first plunge into politics from other than a spectator and worker standpoint. The 35-year-old former teacher has worked in campaigns for Sen. Frank Church, gubernatorial candidate Lloyd Walker of Twin Falls, and Gov. Cecil Andrus.

Mrs. Bowman is vitally concerned about many issues, particularly the military and the war in Vietnam, both of which she would like to see brought down to size, and emphasis and money put into more worthwhile channels here at home. She also is interested in the environment of the state and promises to be a watchdog on environment if she is elected to the senate.

Mrs. Bowman is not a "woman's boxer" per se, but feels women should have equal voice and equal representation. She isn't seeking political office just to give the women someone to vote for, but hopes rather that she will be judged on her merit and talents.

At 35, Mrs. Bowman is slightly older and only slightly less experienced than Sen. Church was when he was elected in 1956.

With a typical woman's eye to economy, Mrs. Bowman hopes to run her primary campaign on $25,000 and will accept no more than $25 from any one contributor.

She is now setting up a grass roots organization in the state and is naturally seeking women to support her campaign. "Women are traditionally the workers in campaigns, so of course, that's where I'm looking for help."

Candidate Bowman takes to the road

Rebekah Assembly leader makes visit to Shoshone

SHOSHONE — The official visit of Mrs. Eleanor Huff, president of the International Grangeville Rebekah Assembly, president, was acknowledged by Opal Rebekah Lodge at the Shoshone IOOF Hall with a special meeting this week.

Mrs. Huff was introduced to the lodge with an escort of the Gooding Canton Honor Guard. Mrs. Edward D. Savaria, noble grand, presided at the meeting. Towns represented at the meeting were Jerome, Richfield, Faribault, Gooding, Wendell, Ketchum, Twin Falls, past president; Mrs. A. G. Baswell, Shoshone, past president; and Mrs. Lorene Larson, Bellevue, past secretary, all of the Department Association, Ladies Mizpah Lodge No. 12.

Also introduced was Mrs. Margaret Watts, Twin Falls, members of the introduction committee were Mrs. T. V. Strunk and Mrs. Floyd Silva. Mrs. Huff is a member of the Auxiliary Patriarch Munitant, and Mrs. Blanche Ruby, deputy president of District No. 60. Mrs. Huff gave her address and was presented a corsage of red roses and gifts.

Each honored guest was presented an owl pin, the honorees traveling emblem, as were the officers of the host lodge.

During intermission, Leonard Daugherty, Drury, Mo., was presented a 45-year jewel from Junction Lodge No. 16, Shoshone. He is a member of the lodge. Edward Savaria, noble grand, made the presentation.

Mrs. Luella L. Kinsey, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Savaria, gave a musical reading. Mrs. Strunk read an article on "The Pledge of Allegiance" by Red Skelton.

Members of the hall included a large heart with the lodge emblem in the center. Centered above the noble grand's station.

Musician of the evening, Mrs. Zelda Pace, Jerome, was presented a corsage in appreciation for her assistance.

Refreshments were served in the dining hall after the meeting.

A noon luncheon was hosted by Mrs. Savaria at her home for Rebekah members and visiting guests. There was a banquet prior to the evening meeting, at a local cafe, with Mrs. Huff as honored guest.

Members of the decorating committee were Mrs. Dale Chatterton, Mrs. Arthur Martin, Mrs. Boyd Alexander, Mrs. Bennie Ray Webb and Mrs. Ormer Shook.

She said there were only nine or 10 families in Almo when they came, but others soon arrived.

She married Nathaniel Able Rice on Sept. 4, 1890. They first lived at Round Mountain near Strevell, and later moved to Vipont Mine near Oakley.

Their next move was to Almo where they purchased a small farm.

Mrs. Rice is the mother of eight children. Her husband died Sept. 5, 1904, just 21 days before their last baby was born.

She raised six children alone, two small girls died before the death of her husband.

Mrs. Rice enjoys good health

FAIRFIELD — "Christy" by Kathleen Marshall was reviewed by Mrs. Phil of the home, lighting and decoration contest held during the holidays.

It was reported the community calendar project was successful. Mrs. Russell Pate, vice president, conducted the business meeting.

Hostesses were Mrs. Charles Dickinson, Mrs. Don Avig and Mrs. Pate.

Cupid wrong?

NEW YORK (UPI) — According to Cupid, Valentine's Day belongs to sweethearts, swains and lovers in general. But, says Hallmark researcher Sally Hopkins, single men and women get fewer valentines on Feb. 14 than almost anyone.

Dear old Mom still holds the top spot on the valentine list. She gets about three times as many as do sweethearts and finances.

Valentines nowadays are more and more a family affair than an affair of the heart.

Miss Hopkins says "sons, daughters and husbands send most of them. When it comes to receiving valentines, sweethearts trail wives, teachers, sisters, brothers, aunts and even uncles."

Two-night country music

show set Feb. 7, 8 in Filer

TWIN FALLS — The Southern Idaho Country Music Association will be performing on a big two-night country music show Feb. 7 and 8 at the Filer High School Auditorium.

The show is slated to be the biggest show of the year with the names in country music that Magic Valley residents have known through the years. Among those performing are the Misfits and Penny, George Serr and the Shadows, Ray Crumbill and the Saints, The Walden Brothers and Linda, Chuck Daniels and the Nevada Gamblers, Frank Carroll, Bill Freeman, Charlie Crane, the Hits and Misses, the One Way Path, Wally Harris and the Swingers and the Hobbs Brothers.

The Southern Idaho Country Music Association is a charity organization from the Magic Valley helping needy individuals and organizations with representatives from Boise to Burley and Hailey to Rogerson.

This is the second show by the organization. The first was held in October, 1971, which will be an annual event along with the February show. Plans are under way for a summer show in the Burley area.

The show is being sponsored by the Snake River Lions Club, Twin Falls. Master of ceremonies will be John Henry and Al Lee of KART Radio Station, Jerome. Country music favorites will be played each night and each show will be entirely different.

Oldest Cassia resident observes centennial year

ALMO — Friends and acquaintances paid their respects to the oldest resident of Cassia County, Mrs. Alice Jane Durfee Rice, on the 100th anniversary of her birth.

The open house was held at her home Sunday.

She excels in quilt making, rug hooking, crocheting and embroidery. In her 98th year, she cut silk pieces for an

"Eccentric Star" quilt, a pattern many quilt enthusiasts would deem too complicated. Three of her eight children are living, Janie Wake and Wesley Rice, Almo, with whom she resides, and Stella Brackenbury, Albion.

She is very proud of her 34 grandchildren, 143 great-grandchildren and 86 great-great-grandchildren. Her one wish is for information to update her family records with correct ages and names.

It was announced the club presented prizes to the winners of the home, lighting and decoration contest held during the holidays.

It was reported the community calendar project was successful. Mrs. Russell Pate, vice president, conducted the business meeting.

Hostesses were Mrs. Charles Dickinson, Mrs. Don Avig and Mrs. Pate.
